

From the Human Security Report 2005

Figure 1.20 Expectations of violence: Experience versus reality

country	percentage of respondents who think it likely they will become victims of violence in the next year.	percentage of respondents who had actually been violently attacked or threatened in a violent way in the last five years.	percentage of respondents with a household member who had been violently attacked or threatened in the last five years.
Brazil	75	20	27
Thailand	50	7	7
South Africa	48	15	24
France	33	12	16
Turkey	30	8	9
United States	17	12	12
Canada	16	13	14
Japan	14	1	4
Russia	13	15	16
India	10	1	1
All 10 countries	22	11	12

Source: Human Security Centre, 2005

Pessimism about future violent crime threats is ubiquitous. In every country but Russia, substantially more people expected to fall victim to violence in the future than their past experience would warrant.