

Figures for the Human Security Report 2012

Figure 7.2 The Duration of Non-State Conflicts, 1989–2009

Data Source: UCDP/HSRP Dataset.

Non-state conflicts, more than half of which are fought between loosely organized groups, tend to be short. In the past two decades, the majority lasted up to a year, while very few were active in three or more years.

Citation and Data Information

Human Security Report Project. Human Security Report 2012: Sexual Violence, Education, and War: Beyond the Mainstream Narrative. Vancouver: Human Security Press, 2012.

Uppsala Conflict Data Program (UCDP), Uppsala University, Uppsala, Sweden/ Human Security Report Project, School for International Studies, Simon Fraser University, Vancouver, Canada.